

RIKKI AWARD 2018

The 'Rikki' Award is open to all members of the Senior Section, either as individuals or as a group of 2 or more. A trophy is awarded to the winning entry as decided by independent judges.

There is no Glastonbury Festival in 2018 because the farmland where it all takes place, needs 2 years to recover. Every 6 years the festival takes a year off or a 'fallow year' to prevent serious damage to Worthy Farm where the event takes place. It's a necessity because so many guests attend the event annually that after a while the land simply needs two years to recover. As a result the next festival at Worthy Farm will be in 2019.

Your mission:

To create your own festival, fit for viewing by the newly married Royal couple, Prince Harry and his fiancée Meghan Markle.

You should consider the staging, the lighting, scenery and equipment as well as the catering, the security and safety of the performers and the audience, and the acts themselves.

If you are entering the challenge as an individual you may interpret the challenge appropriately.

Consideration will be given for creativity in interpreting these challenges.

You will need to record your challenge/project so that it can be seen by the judges – in a format of your choice. Remember that the judges like to be entertained too!

Entries must be sent to Rikki or the County Office to reach them by no later than midday on Friday 31st August 2018.

Please Note: This is to be the last time the Rikki Award is to be presented in its present form.
